

Internship Opening: Coalition for Human Rights in Development: Translation Intern - ongoing

The Coalition for Human Rights in Development is seeking bi-lingual undergraduate students, graduate students, and graduates for the opportunity to gain experience in translation in the field of human rights and development. The internship is remote. Start date and time commitment are flexible. Due to limited resources, internships/externships are unpaid. The Coalition is happy to work with accepted interns to seek course credit for their work.

The Coalition for Human Rights in Development

The Coalition is a global coalition of social movements, civil society organizations, and grassroots groups working to ensure that all development finance institutions respect human rights. We work to support members' advocacy at the local, national, and international level. The Coalition is currently engaged in advocacy and mobilization to strengthen human rights protections at the World Bank and within the BRICS New Development Bank, the development of tools for human rights impact assessment, research and analysis on development finance and human rights, capacity-building for communities and NGOs, and outreach and coalition-building.

For more information, see www.rightsindevelopment.org

Intern Responsibilities and Qualifications

Intern responsibilities will be shaped to fit the availability and skills of the applicant. We are looking for interns who can assist with quick translation of email communications, website updates, and other social media posts. We are also looking for translation of documents, including organizational materials, popular education materials, and technical policy papers. Relevant technical vocabularies include international development policy and human rights law. Language ability should be native speaker or fluent with translation experience in one of the following languages: Spanish, Arabic, French, Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, Russian, Malay-Indonesian, Bengali, Hindustani, Mandarin or other languages utilized in countries that are recipients of development finance.

The Coalition actively seeks applicants with diverse backgrounds.

To apply for the translation internship, please send a cover letter and resume in English to contact@rightsindevelopment.org.

Please include in your cover letter your anticipated start date and availability.

Application Deadline: Rolling. No phone calls please.
